

SIERRA MADRE NEWS

VOL. IX.

SIERRA MADRE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1915.

NO. 38.

GRIGGS NAMED TRUSTEE AND MOOTE MAYOR

Election of A. E. Griggs to fill the vacancy on the board of trustees caused by the resignation of J. M. Beard, election of F. D. R. Moote to the vacant chairmanship of the board, and creation of a new vacancy by the resignation of Trustee Steinberger were the features of last night's meeting of the board of trustees, coming in quick succession near the close of the session.

After presiding over the regular business of the meeting, Chairman Beard asked that action be taken on his resignation filed a week ago. It was accepted with expressions of regret.

F. D. R. Moote was elected chairman pro tem. On behalf of the Merchants' association F. P. Baugh presented the name of A. E. Griggs for the vacancy. No other candidate was presented and on nomination of Trustee Dietz, Mr. Griggs was elected. He was summoned from his home at once so that he might be sworn in. The board then proceeded to elect a chairman, three votes being cast for Trustee Moote and one each for Trustees Steinberger and Griggs.

As Mr. Moote was being sworn in as chairman of the board Trustee Steinberger stepped over to a desk and wrote a paper which he handed to Clerk Perry, and then took his hat and left. When the clerk read the paper it was found to be Mr. Steinberger's resignation, to take effect at once. It was accepted. Trustee Johnson offered a resolution of appreciation for the services of Trustees Beard and Steinberger which the board adopted, adjourning at once.

Strict Burro Ordinance

Ordinance No. 291 was adopted without discussion. It governs the keeping of animals for hire, restricting them from almost every part of town included in the old "animal district" except in the business section, where a special permit is necessary. The ordinance is published elsewhere in this issue.

Contracts Delayed

With the exception of the items already named, little was accomplished at the meeting except the good old pastime of "stalling" for time. Everything that came up was discussed more or less at length and action deferred pending the investigation of somebody or something.

City Engineer Bixby reported on the bids for improvement of Hermosa avenue and Adams street, the lowest bidders being E. C. Clayton, C. C. Breit-Instein and J. Hein, respectively. Because the bids were submitted in different forms there was still some question as to the actual amount involved and action was deferred a week.

Action on the Sturtevant trail bridge was also deferred another week to give Attorney Montgomery time to get a deed to the right of way. All bids save that of H. H. Steinberger, the lowest, were rejected and the guarantee checks ordered returned.

Central Avenue Protest

Numerous property owners were present to back up the protest against any assessment for the acquisition of the sidewalk strip on Central avenue. Attorney Montgomery said the protest was not in the form prescribed by law, no signatures being witnessed, and the law expressly directs that protests not in legal form shall be disregarded. However the old arguments for and against the improvement were reviewed in discussion. Action was deferred a week and Attorney Montgomery and Trustee Moote were appointed to confer with the owners of the three pieces of property affected, in a final effort to secure the sidewalk strip without condemnation proceedings.

ABBOT HAS NEW SOLAR HEAT ENGINE

According to Boston dispatches progress in the work of exact determination of the amount of heat received by the earth from the sun, which has been the object of experiments recently conducted by Messrs. C. G. Abbot, F. E. Fowle and L. B. Aldrich of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, is described by these scientists in the June number of the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

They have found that the amount of heat is 1.93 calories per square centimeter per minute; that is to say, enough heat is received from the sun on each square yard to heat a pound of water to boiling in 2½ minutes. The heat which is received at the earth's surface is somewhat less than this, namely by the variable amount that is absorbed by the earth's atmosphere. The remarkable discovery has also been made that the heat received from the sun is not constant but variable from month to month or year to year by perhaps as much as 10 per cent. This variation might be expected to make pronounced differences in the growth of vegetation or in the general climate from year to year; but for some reason, perhaps through the variable effects of the earth's atmosphere, the variations in the heat received from the sun seem to be unimportant so far as crops are concerned.

The National Academy of Sciences has recently made an appropriation of $250 to Dr. Abbot for the purpose of enabling him to complete and test, on Mt. Wilson in California, an apparatus consisting of a concave cylindrical mirror of about 100 square feet surface for concentrating the sun's heat on tubes containing oil, which is then made to circulate through a reservoir containing ovens and water pipes, so as to utilize solar radiation for cooking and heating water for domestic purposes.

KARL WHEAT WRITES POMONA CLASS PLAY

Prof. E. T. Pierce and family motored to Pomona on Tuesday to attend the Senior Class play held in the Greek theater at Pomona College. The play, which was called "The Gods Are Good," was written by their nephew, Mr. Karl Wheat, who will be remembered as having spent a year of his boyhood in Sierra Madre. Mr. Wheat will graduate from the college this week, and spent his last summer's vacation among the Hopi Indians where he thought out the plot for this play. The play is founded on the lives of these Indians 1000 years ago and introduces many of their mysterious snake dances and incantations. A regular Hopi Indian village was built among the oaks on the outdoor stage of the theater, and here fifty students took part. The music for the play was written by one of the young ladies of the college.

PICNIC AUTHORIZED BY BOARD OF TRADE

Arrangements for the annual Board of Trade beach picnic were talked over at the meeting of the Board of Trade Monday evening. Redondo Beach was the choice of those present at the meeting and arrangements for the event were left in the hands of the entertainment committee. Reports on the Orange Grove Avenue extension project indicated encouraging progress. Adjournment was taken until the October meeting of the board in accordance with the custom of omitting summer meetings.

BIG CLASS GRADUATED AT PASADENA HIGH SCHOOL

Sierra Madre was well represented in the big class which was graduated from Pasadena high school last week. Commencement exercises were held in the high school auditorium on Friday evening and diplomas were awarded to the 268 members of the class. The Sierra Madre members of the class were Anna Kehlet, Katherine Schwartz, Helen Dudley, Elizabeth Ferris, Isabelle Craig, Mattie Seeley, Mamie Welsher, Billie Schwartz, Webster Vannier, Robert Clark, Roe McKinley, James Sparks and George Starr.

GLEE CLUB PLEASING

U. S. C. Singers Give Entertaining Program of Music and Readings

One of the really worth while entertainments of the year was that given by the Woman's Glee Club of the University of Southern California Monday evening. This student organization gave a program which met with the enthusiastic approval of the audience which, unfortunately, was not nearly so large as the event deserved.

Under the direction of Miss Rita Gould the club has achieved a high degree of excellence, singing with a precision and spirit. The parts were well balanced and the voices blended finely. Miss Gould's rich contralto voice was much enjoyed in her solo number and the popular melody sung with ukelele accompaniment was excellently done.

The skit, "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," was put over with spirit and received the approval of almost continuous laughter. Readings by Misses Carlyon and Graves rounded out the program. Miss Graves made an especial hit with her impersonation of the youngest who had fifty-seven different ways of saying "I fall down in mud!"

GARDEN PARTY AT THE F. J. HART HOME

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. F. J. Hart of Sierra Madre Villa entertained very charmingly complimentary to two guests, Mrs. S. H. Wilson and Miss Elizabeth Lee, who left on Thursday for their homes in Cleveland. The affair was an out-door garden party, the Sierra Madre Club Orchestra playing and singing in the garden under the palm trees. Dainty refreshments were served at little tables scattered around, shaded by large Japanese parasols. Those assisting the hostess were Mrs. G. H. Johnson of Los Angeles, Mesdames W. H. Ingraham, Newman Es-sick, E. W. Camp, C. C. Montgomery, C. C. Nourse, J. J. Hart, and the Misses Jean and Hazel Woodward. About 125 invitations were issued. Out of town guests included Mesdames W. H. Richardson, Lyman Stuart, San Marino; Mrs. John Huntington, Long Beach; Mrs. Frank McGerath, Mrs. Bruce Williams, Mrs. Charles Burch, Mrs. O. Riva, Mrs. Fred Peterson, Mrs. Lewis, Miss Enid Lewis, Los Angeles; Mrs. Alice Harrison, Hollywood; Mrs. Geo. E. Griswold, Mrs. Elliott Gibbs, Pasadena. Sierra Madre Villa guests were Mrs. Herkimer Brown, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Inness Kinney.

PUT DOGS TO SLEEP INSTEAD OF SHOOTING

City Marshal Udell has been experimenting on a new method of putting dogs out of the way. The time for payment of the annual dog license is here and the number of dogs at large in Sierra Madre indicates that the city treasury will be greatly enriched or else there will be a large number of candidates for dog heaven. Marshal Udell has been trying gas as a substitute for shooting dogs. There is no noise or commotion. Doggie is shut up in a tight box and the gas is turned on. Doggie goes to sleep and worries no more about dog catchers or where the next meal is coming from. Asphyxiation is the method of killing dogs and cats adopted by the humane societies in the large cities.

District Agent Fred Schwartz of the Edison Company was named chairman of the standing committee on real estate and manufacturing. The organization recently changed its name from Board of Trade to Chamber of Commerce, the latter name more accurately describing its functions.

NEW CARS NUMEROUS

New motor cars are so numerous nowadays as to cause scarcely a ripple of notice, in striking contrast to the importance of the purchase of a new car a few years ago. Among those who are enjoying new cars in Sierra Madre are H. J. Simank, Dr. R. H. Mackerras, Henry Schaser, E. L. Yerxa, Jack Richey and A. E. Griggs.

MAKING SOIL SURVEY

State and Government Experts at Work Along Sierra Madre Range

The California Agricultural Experiment Station is co-operating this season with the United States Department of Agriculture in soil surveys of detailed areas around Pasadena and San Bernardino and reconnaissance work in the San Diego region. After the work in these areas has been completed the parties will take up detailed surveys in the Russian River Valley and the Honey Lake district and reconnaissance work in the San Joaquin Valley.

Four men from the station and four from the Federal Department have been assigned to the work. Under the co-operative arrangement adopted for these soil surveys, each pays the salaries and expenses of its own men, while the Federal Government bears the expense of inspecting the work and publishing the report for each county.

This report will be accompanied by a large map showing in colors the location of the various kinds of soils with reference to roads, schools, churches, watercourses and other features of the county. The nature of the soils, their adaptability for various crops and suggestions for the most advantageous use of fertilizers will also be discussed in detail, together with full information on existing agricultural conditions. Several months will be required to prepare the report and map after the survey has been completed.

MEN'S SOCIAL STARTS NEW CHURCH ENTERPRISE

Large attendance and keen interest marked the "Efficiency Social" for men held in the Congregational Church last Friday evening. After a social hour refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served by the men, who had the premises entirely to themselves. This was followed by a discussion led by Rev. Staff and participated in by several others. The general theme was the making of the church more efficient, in harmony with the modern cry for efficiency in business, education and other lines. The fact that church management and support constitutes a man's job and a big one was pointed out and the general opinion was that there should be no room in a church for the motto "Let the women do the work." One new project was undertaken and fifteen volunteers were secured for the job. They will take a church census of the town in the near future, dividing the town into districts and making a house to house canvas for the purpose of ascertaining the church preferences and affiliations of every family. The returns will be tabulated in the form of a card index. When completed the church census will afford a reasonably accurate statement of the population of Sierra Madre.

SCHOOL NOTES

By J. H. Wright, Dist. Clerk

Another week and the public school will be closed for the summer vacation. That the freedom, relaxation and recreation of this long playtime may bring growth and strength, enlarged views of life and much wholesome enjoyment to all our young people is the hearty wish of the teachers and the member of the Board of School Trustees who contribute to this column.

With the opening of school in September you will find several more improvements. The old unsanitary toilets will have disappeared and been replaced by a complete sanitary plumbing system in each side of the basement of the school. Cement steps and a new entrance will have been installed on each side of the patio.

Seventeen of the mothers gathered in the Kindergarten building on Monday and spent an enjoyable social afternoon sewing for the Kindergarten class.

An unusually successful surprise party was given by the fourth grade on Tuesday to their popular teacher, Miss Minnie Gardner, the affair being held in the Kindergarten building.

On Wednesday the Parent-Teacher Association met in the Kindergarten building and held their final meeting for the school year. Newly elected officers were installed and an interesting program rendered. Light refreshments were served on the class tables and the mothers seated in the miniature chairs with which the room is furnished.

The fore part of the week will see the Domestic Science building furnished completely and each room equipped with suitable furniture. About $275.00 has been expended in providing heavy and solid furniture that should last for years to come. Very few sections can boast of as well equipped a building. The trustees not only built and provided for the present but for the future growth of our school.

The children with sparkling eyes, eager interest and earnest determination are preparing for the annual exhibit of school work which promises to be the best and most complete ever given here.

Teachers Retained

No changes will be made in the present corps of teachers and from the principal down all have been reengaged for another term. An assistant kindergarten teacher is to be engaged for this work. One has already been selected by Prof. E. T. Pierce and Miss Frances E. Newton, kindergarten teacher, and accepted by the Board of School Trustees.

Reports from the Pasadena High School show that our school holds a high standard. A few years ago this was not the case and our pupils were ill prepared. Ability to properly prepare the pupils for the higher courses and to get the best results from their studies is very necessary in our grammar school teachers and should be considered above any personal like or dislike, or personal peculiarities. Children cannot gauge as to the fitness or unfitness of a teacher and their scope of vision along these lines is limited. This limitation should be taken into consideration when children criticize and find fault. Parents should remember these things and judge accordingly. Nine times out of ten the trouble rests with the pupil and not the teacher. Some people who cannot control their own children expect a teacher to do so without any home co-operation.

Some excellent photographs of the school float, "Cornelia and Her Jewels," have been secured and may be obtained from Secretary Wright of the school board or at the Sierra Madre News office.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dietz entertained with a little informal birthday party on Tuesday evening in celebration of the birthday of the former. The evening was pleasantly spent with progressive five hundred and dainty refreshments were served. One of the interesting features of the refreshments was a birthday cake sent all the way from San Francisco. Guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. Hoffman, Capt. and Mrs. J. A. Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Walker, Miss Gladys Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Ward and Miss Alice Ball.

Six Rules to Observe to Prevent Disastrous Fires in the Mountains

RULES TO PREVENT MOUNTAIN FIRES

Precautions of the simplest kind would eliminate most of the loss resulting from forest fires, as shown by reports on the causes of the fires in the reserves last season.

Much could be accomplished by observance of the following six simple rules:

1. Be sure your match is out before you throw it away.
2. Knock out your pipe ashes or throw away your cigar or cigarette stump where there is nothing to catch fire.
3. Don't build a camp fire any larger than is absolutely necessary. Never leave it even for a short time without putting it OUT with water or dirt.
4. Don't build a camp fire against a tree or a log. Build a small one where you can scrape away the needles, leaves or grass from all sides of it.
5. If you discover a fire, put it out if possible; if you can't put it out, get word to the nearest U. S. forest ranger or state fire warden just as quickly as you possibly can.

Mmes. A. T. Gay and F. H. Hartman entertained on Tuesday afternoon the Congregational Ladies Aid Society and a number of other guests very delightfully at her home on South Baldwin avenue. After the regular business meeting of the society, a social time was enjoyed with needle work. The living rooms were artistically decorated with bowls of lilies. Miss Ina Buchanan presided over the punch bowl during the afternoon and later delicious ice cream and cakes were served by young ladies in white. About seventy-five were present. At the business meeting plans were made for a church supper to be held in the church annex on Tuesday evening, June 29.

INACTION

Between the great things we cannot do and the small things we will not do there is great danger that we shall do nothing. There are not a few people waiting for an opportunity to be heroes who in the meanwhile are not ordinary useful citizens.

Gems In VerseTHE PEACE PALACE.

THEY have builded a beautiful palace
Beside the wild heart of the sea—
A pledge before earth and high heaven
Of peace to humanity.
And love was the stone of foundation.
Its pillars the honor of kings.
Within the white halls of that palace
The spirit of peace spreads her wings.

As fair as the dream of an angel,
Resplendent, majestic it stands.
But, alas, for the beautiful palace,
It is built on the shifting sands!
For the passions of men have assailed it.
And around it the storms never cease.
They beat in their passionate fury
Against the fair palace of peace.

DISHONOR and greed and hatred
Have triumphed o'er right again.
Forgotten the oath of nations,
The brotherhood of men.
The fields are reeking with slaughter,
And the menace of famine and plague
Is among the grim host of the specters
That haunt the fair palace of Hague.

Oh, world, you have builded blindly.
Oh, kings, you have planned deceit.
For the army of peace defenceless
Has met with a crushing defeat.
For while in those halls you were pledging,
In that beautiful palace of light,
You were making new weapons for slaughter,
You were keeping your sabers bright.

Oh, world, you have builded blindly
On the shifting words of men.
For not in mere stone and marble
Shall peace come to earth again.
For the Prince of Peace will triumph
When the passions of men shall cease,
And in every heart is builded
A beautiful palace of peace.

THEY have builded a beautiful palace
Beside the wild heart of the sea.
Around it the moans of the dying
In the winds cry mockingly.
The souls of the vanquished soldiers
And the wraiths of famine and plague
Are among the army of specters
That haunt the fair palace of Hague.

THE MAPMAKERS.

WHEN the war drums beat no longer
And the battle flags are furled
Will you keep the same old spelling
Of the cities of the world?
When the maps are all made over
Will the spelling plainer be,
So that those who read the papers
May pronounce the names they see?
Must we always speak one letter
And then choke upon the rest?
When that new map you are making
Pity us and do your best!
—Ninette M. Lowater.

AT THE RAINBOW'S END.

AT the rainbow's end is a bag of gold,
Oft have I heard the story told.

AND once I sought for the rainbow's end
And I found not gold but a friend.

AND once the curve of the shining bow
Dipped down from the sky to a home below.

IN the home I found a loving heart,
But of the gold not a gleaming part.

WITH the rainbow ends of life
divined,
Not gold but richer prize we find.
—Arthur Wallace Peach

THE WAR WIND.

THE north wind sweeps the country-
side,
And brings the blinding snow.
The war wind sweeps the country-
side

With fierce advancing toe,
And men may hide from the north wind,
But from the war wind—no!

The rainstorm beats the crops to earth
And freezes the foaming flood.
The war storm breaks the men like oats.
And the rivers flow with blood,
And man may brave the rainstorm,
But the war storm heeds no hood.

After the north wind comes the spring,
After the storm the sun,
But the war wind leaves no living thing
After its race is run.

And the war storm needs to blow but once—
Its work is fully done.

To him who sends the north wind
Unending praises be.
But God have mercy on his soul
Who sets the war wind free
—Percival P. Birdseye.

GOD GRANT YOU MAY FAIL.

GOD grant that you may fail
Again and yet again!
That you may know
All bitterness that e'er can come to men
For only so
May you at length prevail.

GOD give you bitterness,
And mete you out despair.
God grant that you may know
The fear of things,
For only from the thorny fields and bare,
Of failure springs
The lone trail of success.
—Youth's Companion.

THE MASTER SPIRIT.

GIVE me a spirit that on life's rough sea
Loves to have his sails filled with a lusty wind.
Even till his sailyards tremble, his masts crack
And his rapt ship runs on her side so low
That she drinks water and her keel plows air.

There is no danger to a man that knows
Where life and death is; there's not any law
Exceeds his knowledge, neither is it needful

That he should stoop to any other law.
He goes before them and commands them
all.
That to himself is a law rational.
—George Chapman.

MEASURE FOR MEASURE.

WHEN that "some day" shall come at last to be,
Where my son's heart will wander far from me
To seek its joy in some one fair and young.

Then will my inmost soul be pierced and wring
With the same anguish that another felt
When my boy's father for my favor knelt,
And with my joyous and triumphant
"Yes!"
I pierced the heart of her life's happiness.
—Margaret H. Lawless.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

EVERY housewife in these days is interested in the question of reducing household expenses. She is willing to trade a little extra work for the money it will save. There is one place in the house that cleanliness pays, and that is around the gas stove.

The air holes of the gas stove should be cleaned frequently, as, in the rushing in of the air to mix with the gas and give the flame, particles of dust are carried with the air, and these clog the vent. Unless there is the right amount of air supplied there is considerable loss in heat energy, more gas than necessary is consumed and a longer time is required for cooking.

The flame of the gas stove should be a clear blue, through which you can see. If it is a red or a yellow the air mixture is not the proper one, and steps should be taken at once to give a larger supply of air to the flame. Wash the burners in hot water, to which a liberal supply of washing soda has been added, or with hot water and a strong soap that will cut grease.

It is a simple matter to take the burners off of most of the gas stoves, but if this seems a difficult thing to do they may be washed on the stove. The burners in the oven should be treated in the same way. After washing them rub the burners with crude oil or with drippings which have no salt in them. This will prevent rusting as well as give a black appearance to the part.

The oven should be thoroughly washed out and then lighted with the gas flames. Open the door during this process, for the heat without air would cause the moisture to gather on the sides and the top of the oven.

A thorough cleaning of this sort should be given the gas range at least every ten days. This will be sufficient if a whiskbroom is used on the stove every day and the top of the stove wiped carefully after cooking. The appearance of a clean range is enough to pay for the trouble in the eyes of many housewives, but when in addition to this there is added the saving of gas and consequently of money and a longer period of service for the gas range it should become a part of the regular household duties.

BEAUTIFUL LAMP SHADE.

How to Make One That Has Some Novel Features.

Have you a child's discarded parasol in the house? If so, bring it to light and transform it into a handsome lamp shade for electric light. The very latest and most beautiful shades are exactly this shape, and once the handle is removed from the parasol the rest is easy.

So take the handle as carefully as possible and then remove the covering. The frame will probably look hopeless to the amateur interior decorator, but she must get a strong piece of cord and take it around the edge of the frame, holding down each rib firmly. In doing so she should pull the cord rather tight between the ribs so that the shape becomes more belled than formerly.

The next step is to rip away one of the sections of the covering and press it well, especially along the seams. This is the pattern by which all the new sections are cut.

A soft, thin India silk makes the best kind of covering for a lamp shade, and the most satisfactory colors are old rose, orange brown and yellow tones.

When cutting the sections follow the pattern exactly, but cut an inch or so longer at the wide end. Next baste each section carefully together and stitch up on the machine. Place the finished cover over the frame and secure at the top temporarily. Draw the material down each rib and turn up the surplus to form a hem. Stitch the hem and insert a narrow elastic. The cover is now complete, ready for the frame.

Sew it at the top and finish with a covered button mold, a pompon or any small ornament at hand. With very strong thread secure the cover to the ribs and then with the fingers draw the fullness away from the ribs at the center. There will be little or much fullness, according to the bell effect given.

How to Sweep a New Rug So It Will Not Be Harmed.

A new rug or carpet should not be swept with a broom. Use a carpet sweeper for several weeks until the pile becomes "set." Old fashioned housekeepers may tell you to sweep the new rug briskly to "remove the fuzz." What you will really be doing will be to sweep out some of the nap and probably injure the surface of the rug. If you must sweep, however, be careful to move the broom with the pile of the fabric and not against it.

Rugs should never be tacked down. If in certain places in the room they are apt to be rolled back or pushed about attach bits of black tape with snap fasteners at the ends of the rug under the fringe and twin snap fasteners to bits of black tape may be tacked to the floor. The rugs may be taken up easily on sweeping day, and the small tacks which hold the bits of tape to the floor will not cause much injury even to hardwood surface.

HOW TO USE SEVERAL LITTLE HINTS EFFECTIVELY.

Salt is a good absorbent, as the housewife will discover if she runs for the salt receptacle when ink is spilled on the carpet or on the tablecloth, and puts on salt, renewing the salt as fast as it absorbs the ink. If the salt is put on the ink promptly it is generally so effective that practically no ink stain remains.

An added flavor is given to after dinner black coffee if each lump of sugar to be served with it is rubbed with a piece of lemon peel a few moments before time to bring on the coffee. Orange peel adds a delicate touch to the afternoon tea if the sugar to be used is rubbed with it a little while before it is served.

Dishes in which eggs have been prepared or batter and dough mixed in should be rinsed with cold water before they are washed. If put in hot water before the cold water is applied the heat will cook the eggs or the flour paste sufficiently to make it stick to the dishes.

Potatoes used instead of soap will keep the hands clean and the skin soft. The water in which potatoes have been boiled is a good wash for table silver and keeps it bright with little or no exertion on the part of the housewife.

FASHION FANCIES.

How to Select Cottons For Your Summer Frocks.

The woman who must select her dresses with an eye to the future would do well to plan a few frocks of the new crisp cottons. There is a positive trend toward self supporting weaves, probably the natural result of the prevailing modes—fluffy ruffles and rippling skirts. And while the clinging crepes, soft voiles and other supple fabrics will continue to be very fashionable during the summer, the indications are that their supremacy will wane with the season and in another year will be entirely superseded by the crisp weaves having sufficient dressing to give light and airy effects. In this class the organdies hold a high place, and the shops are showing a large line of those pretty cottons in attractive floral patterns. In lawns, dimities and batistes there are also large assortments to select from.

In the softer materials crepes still have a strong hold on popular favor, and whether in embroidered figures or printed patterns they are fashionable. Voiles, especially in the printed forms, are still greatly favored. Linens will probably be scarce later on, but just now there are plenty to select from. In the novelty weaves there are the Cossack linen and the covert linen that make up into such smart suits, and where a fabric with body is desired there are the plaques, cotton velours and Bedford cords to select from.

Floral designs are favored in printed fabrics this season, but stripes will also be modish and are well represented in the present displays. A decided pattern shows alternate stripes of black and white, each one and one-half inches wide. Black and white effects are very fashionable and many of the new cottons show black flowers scattered over a white surface.

Even though the printed patterns will be so popular, every woman wants one or two white dresses in her wardrobe and the probabilities are that when she gets into the shops she will select material for several dresses because the displays are almost too alluring to resist. The transparent organdies that became popular last summer are being shown in both plain and embroidered effects. Voiles are in high favor and are being shown in endless varieties. In fancy white cottons the favorite snowflake patterns, known as neige, are again very popular. And then there are the cords, checks and stripes. Those carried on in groups and irregular effects that make up into such charming frocks are prominent.

How to Make a Real Strawberry Shortcake of Biscuit Dough.

The strawberry in its shortcake form is deservedly popular, but not, pray, the cake dessert palmed off in place of the genuine biscuit basis on which all good shortcakes depend. Any dough mixture like that for baking powder biscuits, only made a little richer, is far more delicious combined with the berries than any piece of sponge or other cake. It takes only a half hour to complete a strawberry shortcake of two hot biscuit crusts, thickly buttered, spread with mashed berries and garnished with whole ones. Any woman with two hands should be ashamed to offer an imitation shortcake of stale sponge cake when a delicious biscuit dough is so easy to make.

How to Make Lunch Cloths of Embroidered Damask.

Some of the newest lunch cloths are being shown of embroidered damask. The material itself is undyed, but the embroidery is usually elaborate. A very silky mercerized cotton is employed for working out the design, and this, with the soft sheen of the damask, makes a very rich cloth.

These cloths are more practical when made in the size of a large centerpiece, for then the individual plate and tumbler doilies of plain lace edged damask can be used to protect the polished table surface and are more easily laundered than the heavily embroidered cover.

DANGERS OF FLATTERY.

In order that all men may be taught to speak truth it is necessary that all should learn to hear it, for no species of falsehood is more frequent than flattery, to which the coward is betrayed by fear, the dependent by interest, the friend by tenderness. Those neither servile nor timorous are yet desirous to bestow pleasure, and while unjust demands of praise continue to be made there will always be some whom hope, fear or kindness will dispose to pay them.—Johnson.

Uses Animals Make of Their Tails.

Horses, cows and other creatures use their tails as fly dappers. Cats, squirrels and many more twist them around their necks for comforters. The rat has raised the use of the tail to a fine art, for by its means it guides the blind and steers jelly, oil and cream out of jars and bottles. The macaco plays as merrily with its tail as a kitten does, and the marmoset while it sleeps uses its tail as a sort of blanket. The raccoon catches crabs with its tail. Every one knows how the monkeys journey through pathless forests by swinging from tree to tree, while the fishes steer their way through the water by their tail fins. The ant eater uses its big bushy tail as an umbrella.

Gentle Persuasion.

Shortly after our Spanish war a lady in New York asked her colored cook to get her husband to come over and help move some furniture. She noticed that the negro man had several bad scars on his head.

"Was your husband in the war, Dinah?" she asked.

"No, ma'am."

"How did he get all those scars on his head?" she asked.

"Oh, dat's whar we's had words!"

"How could you, Dinah? He seems like a nice man," said the mistress.

"Oh, he's good 'nough now, but it took a lot of work wid de tater masher to persuade him to be good!"—Chicago News.

THE LEADING NATION.

In every age of the world there has been a leading nation, one of a more generous sentiment, whose citizens were willing to stand for the interests of general justice and humanity at the risk of being called by the men of the moment chimerical and fantastic. Which should be that nation but these states?—Emerson.

Flax Makes River Golden.

The Lys or Leye, which flows from France into Belgium along the line Armentieres-Courtrai, is known locally by what is now the singularly inappropriate name of the "Golden river." This it gets because of the quality of its waters, long known but never properly explained, which impart a beautiful color to flax that is steeped in them. During summer for miles and miles along its banks this process of "setting" flax is carried on, and through Courtrai, which is the great clearing house for the industry, there are yearly exported many thousands of tons of Lys steeped flax to Ireland alone.—London Graphic.

Ordinance No. 201

An Ordinance of the Board of Trustees of the City of Sierra Madre Prohibiting the Construction, Maintenance, or Keeping within the Residence District of the City of Sierra Madre of Livery Stables, Corrals or Other Places for Animals for Hire, Establishing the Boundaries of the Residence District of the City of Sierra Madre; Regulating the Keeping of Animals for Hire; Providing a Penalty for the Violation of the Provisions of this Ordinance and Repealing all Ordinances and Parts of Ordinances in Conflict Herewith.

WHEREAS, we the Board of Trustees of the City of Sierra Madre, on investigation have found and determined as a matter of fact, that the maintaining in the residential district of said City of corrals, stables and other enclosures for the care and keeping of animals for hire has invariably resulted in the accumulation of manure and other filthy substances of various kinds, generating noxious odors, and breeding and attracting flies and other vermin; has been the source of many loud, disagreeable and distracting noises; has been the cause of much dust, dirt, discomfort and damage to the inhabitants of said residential district; and constitutes an intolerable nuisance injuriously affecting the health, property and welfare of the people of the said City residing in said residential district.

And whereas the conditions above mentioned have been the cause of frequent complaints from the people of said City, who have petitioned this body to pass an ordinance to prevent the further continuance of these conditions by excluding the causes thereof.

Now therefore, the Board of Trustees of the City of Sierra Madre do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation or any employee of any person, firm or corporation to construct, maintain or keep or cause or permit to be constructed, maintained or kept within the limits of the Residential District of said City hereinafter described, any livery stable, corral or other enclosure or place for maintaining or keeping temporarily or permanently of animals for hire.

SECTION 2. The Residence District of the City of Sierra Madre is hereby defined and described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at the junction of Central Avenue and Canon Avenue in said City, thence north to Alegria Avenue, thence west to Mountain Trail Avenue, thence north to Mira Monte Avenue, thence to the junction of Mira Monte Avenue and Carter Avenue, thence northwest and west along Carter Avenue and the line of Carter Avenue extended to Sierra Madre Avenue, thence south on Sierra Madre Avenue to Live Oak Avenue, thence east on Live Oak Avenue to the line of Canon Avenue extended, thence north to the place of beginning.

Excepting, however, the following described property lying within the above described boundaries and constituting the principal business section of said City, to-wit:

Why Hire Another—

Why doesn't President Wilson act as his own secretary of state? His diplomatic correspondence is the best this country has sent out in many years. The shock of the recent shake-up having passed, the American people are becoming pretty firmly convinced that the president knows more about "peace with honor" than anybody else. They will feel safe and secure under that "ad interim" arrangement for some time to come.

Be Easy—

There may be something about Mr. Bryan's resignation which does not appear on the surface. But after looking diligently for some sufficient cause for all the flurry, most people including Mr. Bryan's well wishers, have found themselves assenting to the comment of President Baer of Occidental: "Resign if you must, but don't slam the door as you go out."

Not So Many—

Special trains containing 500 real estate men are on their way to a convention in Los Angeles. If all the Angel City real estate dealers would get together the addition of a paltry 500 to their number would be scarcely noticed.

Seek Soft Spot to Alight—

They look like beer, taste like beer, are bottled like beer by the breweries but they contain less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol and are advertised as non-intoxicating. That describes the new drinks recently marketed by some of the large Southern California brewers. Why should a brewer put out such a beverage? Easy—they see the dry wave coming and are trying to find some product to which they can devote their plants under a prohibition regime. Nobody foresees the coming of prohibition more clearly than some of the liquor men.

"The children sit on me."

Daddy's Bedtime

The Rocking Horse Story— That Wasn't Contented.

ONCE there was a rocking horse that wasn't in the least contented," began daddy.

"But, daddy, how is a rocking horse going to know whether he is contented or not?" demanded Jack.

"Well, we can pretend that this rocking horse knew whether he was contented or not, can't we?" asked daddy. "This rocking horse was one of the prettiest rocking horses that ever rocked, I believe. He was dapple gray in color, and he had a fine white wavy tail and a mane to match. And he had a couple of lovely eyes painted in for him, with which he could see all around, for there were no blinders painted over them to obscure his sight. And in the summer time the children used to take him out to rock on the green grass, and in the winter time they would ride on him in the house, where it was always warm and comfy. And he ought to have been the happiest rocking horse you ever saw, but I am afraid that he wasn't."

"For this rocking horse, like some other animals and like some children sometimes, got all snarly and complainy. You see, he got that way through watching live horses. And one time when there was nobody around to hear he voiced his complaint something like this:

"What good am I? he snarled. 'I am only a rocking horse, not a live one. Look at those live horses on the road. They trot along with carriages hitched to them, and there are people in the carriages, and the horses get somewhere. And they seem to enjoy the exercise. And other horses gallop along with people sitting on them. And those horses get somewhere too. 'But look at me. The children sit on me, and they tell me to "giddyap." And what do I do? I don't get anywhere. I just rock and rock and rock, always sticking right in the same place, and I don't get anywhere. And those horses eat oats and hay, they tell me I can't eat at all. What good is it being a rocking horse anyway?"

"So that's the way the little rocking horse snarled. Wasn't it awful, children? It was during the summer when the rocking horse rocked on the grass. "Along came the winter, and the rocking horse was in the nursery. And his pretty painted eyes saw some sights that made him a wiser rocking horse. "He saw live horses toiling through snow and wallowing in mud, and it didn't seem so nice, after all. And once he saw a poor old live horse being beaten by a man."

"Well, said he, 'I guess there are worse fates than being a rocking horse. And after that he was more contented."

imals, and the kind of business to be transacted.

The territory to which this clause pertains is entirely surrounded by the Residence District of said City, and the purpose of this provision is to prevent through an unreasonable use of the business district the evils complained of in the Residence District.

All Dolled Up.
In the African jungles, when weddings they hold,
They don't tie old shoes on a hack;
The bride wears a smile and a gee-string,
I'm told,
And the groom wears conventional black.

Ooof!
"There's no use talking," growled Mr. Gabb. "A woman can't take a joke."
"She can't, eh?" snapped Mrs. Gabb. "Well, what did I do when I married you?"

And yet he always seems to need
A little more than he can get.

Force of Habit.
The sermon was long and prosy, and the tired telephone girl was enjoying a little nap. The preacher ended his discourse and announced:
"We will sing hymn No. 432—four-three-two."
The tired telephone girl awoke with a start when she heard the number and said in a sweet voice:
"The line is busy."

Sure!
"Scientists now claim that birds know how to make love," remarked the old fogey.
"Well, what of it?" replied the grouch. "So do chickens."

Cheer Up!
When all your plans go to the bad,
And things look black as night,
Just wear a cheerful grin, my lad,
And you'll come out all right.

Luke McLuke Says:
When you see a man kicking a stray dog you can bet that he is the kind of fellow whose wife and children hate to see him come home at night.

A woman can paint her face and be all right. But a man seldom gives her the benefit of the doubt when he sees the paint.

Appearances may be deceitful. But a man looking for a wife would rather take a chance on a pretty girl than on a homely one.

A woman can be narrow minded and still have a hard time squeezing into a Morris chair when she wants to sit down.

Our idea of a real modest girl would be one who is ashamed to dress in front of a looking glass.

The trouble with having a genius in the family is that the rest of the family have to support him.

A man likes to yelp that his wife can't fix meals like mother used to cook. But you couldn't get him to marry an old lady with mother's experience in the cooking line.

One half the world owes money that it can't pay, and the other half has money out that it can't collect.

A husband is the sort of bluffer who gives his wife $5 to spend on herself and tells her what a generous lad he is. Then he makes her pay for his laundry when the laundryman comes and pay for his beer when the beer man comes and pay for the suit he sent up to get cleaned and pressed. And along about Friday he will borrow a dollar from her. And on Saturday he will get mad because she wants some money and will ask her what she did with the $5 he gave her for herself last Saturday.

Any married man is entitled to sympathy unless he has married the second time.

A man can have a reputation downtown of being the best natured fellow in the world, but somehow or other his wife never guesses it.

The man who takes booze as a medicine seems to manage to dig up a fresh cold every day in the year.

Outline Studies in the Scriptures

At 3 P. M. Sunday afternoons, in the Town Hall, if God permit, there will be given in the form of addresses, an outline of the Old Testament with a view to bringing out the dispensational and typical instruction therein, especially in connection with the tabernacle and the sacrifices.

A cordial invitation is given to all, especially Christians, to whom it is believed these addresses should prove both interesting and instructive.

These meetings are undenominational. There are no theories to advance, but a simple exposition of the scriptures as we find them
